MILLS RAPS GRAB FOR SMOOTH PAVING

Criticizes Lack of System in Expending Funds for Street Improvement.

NEED GRADING AND GRAVEL

City Engineer Bolling Wants Money to Grade Sixty Miles of Roadways.

Judging by expressions from a number of members of the Council Committee on Finance last night, there is little probability of any general appropriation being made in the annual budget this year for smooth paving. Provision may be made for paving about the new John Marshall High School, and if funds permit there may be a special appropriation to continue the smooth paving on Monument Avenue from Allison Street to the Davis Monument, or possibly to the Boulevard.

Chairman Adams, of the Street Committee, suggested the advisability of paving Belvidere Street from Broad to Main, because of its long neglected condition. But the general street fund will be so hedged about that it can only be spent for grading, graveling, curbs and gutters and granite spall paving, the demands of the outlying territory in which there has been rapid building development, having precedence, according to several members of the committee.

Incidentally, the custom of the Street Committee in expending the general appropriation for street funds and spending it on the sole recommendation of the two members composing the ward delegation came in for several raps, members asserting that much of the street fund of two years ago had been improperly diverted from the purpose for which it was intended to the paving of single blocks on "streets that come from nowhere and lead nowhere."

Need Two Millions.
City Engineer Bolling presented a statement of the needs of the Street Department, showing from his records what improvements are needed in the city, the grand total aggregating $2,055,076.54. The items of payroll of the Engineering Department, $20,510; hands and carts, $10,770; and the purchase of new wagons and tools, $45,000; roller and crusher, $5,000; and the advance funds for paving sidewalks and alleys at the expense of abutting property owners, the city to be later reimbursed, were about as usual, and occasioned little discussion. Mr. Bolling recommended the purchase of a new steam roller to cost $7,700, for use on streets in the East End, and also a number of repairs to the different parts of the city.

For streets generally, grading and graveling, the engineer estimates the needs of the year at $177,192.24; for streets generally, curbing, guttering and smooth paving, $1,132,546.30. Of the latter item, $450,000 represents estimates on smooth paving on resolutions introduced in the Council and referred to the Committee on Streets. Mr. Cottrell asked if it were the custom to list all such requests as they were introduced, whether there is merit in them or not. Mr. Bolling replied that they were passed on by the ward delegation in each instance.

Mr. Elliott claimed that the item for smooth paving should be included in the Finance, rather than the Street, Committee, claiming to have been the author of the original resolution for smooth paving on Grace and Franklin Streets. Mr. Elliott argued that it was irregular and out of order for the Finance Committee to take up an appropriation for any department until the committee in charge of that department had acted as a whole. The Street Committee, he said, should have the streets it favors smooth paving this year with an estimate.

Council Should Select Streets.
Mr. Proctor, of the City of Richmond, said that the city of Richmond should have notice where the paving fund is to be spent, continued Mr. Mills. "I will not vote for any blanket fund to be subdivided among the wards, regardless of their needs, and then expended by the two men who make up the ward delegation wherever they see fit. If there is to be smooth paving this year the Council, not a ward delegation, should say what it is to cost, and where it is to be done."

Mr. Adams said that the fund for smooth paving should not be used for smooth paving, said Chairman Adams, of the Street Committee, who is also a member of the Committee on Finance. "I do not agree, however, about the street fund. Those streets need gravel, and a lot of it."

Mr. Adams finally agreed to call a special meeting of the Street Committee this week to make up a list of the smooth paving which the committee thinks should be done this year.

Reining his statement, Mr. Bolling said that by far the most important matter now before the city is the grading and graveling of streets. The city has now, he asserted, between fifty and sixty miles of ungraded streets. Wherever water mains and sewers are to be placed, he said, it was a waste of money to do the cutting before the grading. The pipe lines, to save double cutting, and preserve the surface.

People, he said, were clamoring for improvement of Cary Street, Grove Avenue, and Broad Street Road, but he considered it foolish to gravel them and then to cut them up in six months to put in new water and sewer lines.

The Engineer recommended that a specific continuing appropriation be made from year to year for walling in Bacon's Quarter Branch, which is now little more than an open sewer.

Damage Suit Held Up.
Some steps, he said, should be taken to provide for adjusting property damage where streets are graded. He said he was appalled at the amounts asked by some property owners for trifling changes in the grades, and that the work is delayed at almost every point in settling with such parties. "It hinders improvements for which we have the funds," he said, "because of exorbitant demands of the very property owners whose property is being improved. Many people build houses utterly without regard to the surveyed lines and grades adopted by the city. In the survey of the annexed territory, and then claim damages when the city cuts the streets to the grades adopted."

NOT READY TO VACATE

Treat Will Ask Smithers Not to Assume Duties Until Monday.

Morgan Treat, retiring United States Marshal, received a letter from Charles G. Smithers, his successor, yesterday morning, in which the appointee expressed a desire to assume charge of the office to-day. Mr. Treat, however, ever that he will be unable to close his accounts for several days, and will ask that the transfer be deferred until next Monday. The routine of the office is in such shape that much confusion will be caused, it is explained, if the transfer is made on such short notice. Mr. Treat says he does not think he should be required to vacate on twenty-four hours' notice, and there seems to be little doubt but that Mr. Smithers will appreciate conditions as soon as they are explained to him. Mr. Smithers is expected to be in Richmond to-day. His commission has been forwarded to Judge Waddill. He has received the January reports of all his field deputies, but their affidavits are necessary before the accounts are forwarded to the department.

ARGUES FOR NEW TRIAL

Capital Cussons Seeking to Nullify Verdict Giving Clifford Mellon $100,000 Damages.

Capital Cussons, assisted by Attorney James A. Shelton, argued yesterday before Judge R. Carter Scott, of the federal circuit court, for a new trial in the case against Clifford Mellon for $100,000 damages for defamation of character. Mellon was awarded $100,000 damages by the jury last week. Judge Scott took the case under advisement.

WOOD'S VOTE MAY BE CHALLENGED

Claimed That Penitentiary Superintendent Stays in Board to Fight Annexation.

CITY POLITICS GROWS HOT

Right of State Officer to Preside Over Aldermen to Be Questioned.

Councilman John F. Don Leavy, of Clay Ward, announced last night that he would be a candidate for the Board of Aldermen from that ward in the coming municipal election in opposition to Aldermen S. H. Cottrell and John J. Mitchell, both of whom he stands for re-election. Alderman Whitte, of Clay Ward, is the hold-over member, and does not come up for re-election this spring.

Mr. Don Leavy has been an active member of the Special Committee on Consolidation of Richmond and Manchester.

Not only in Clay Ward, but throughout the city, the campaign for the Council is taking shape, and voters are rapidly pledging their allegiance. Eleventh-hour candidates, however, strongly indorsed, will find it hard to break through.

Criticize Mr. Wood.
There is some speculation as to the situation in Jefferson Ward, the rival holding of the city's politics. Although President J. B. Wood, of the Board of Aldermen, has been elected and has qualified as Superintendent of the State Penitentiary, he has not yet resigned, and according to his followers, will remain in the Board until he can speak and work against the consolidation ordinance.

A member of the lower branch is authorized to make a statement that his vote will be challenged and that the legality of his sitting or presiding will be questioned at the next meeting of the upper branch. With the consolidation ordinance now hanging about only balanced, with only a vote or two either way, the choice of Mr. Wood's successor has become one of the crucial points in the event the City Attorney rules that he cannot retain his seat as some members of the Council construe the law. Alderman Adams, of Jefferson Ward, the senior member, is a member of the consolidation committee and favors the union of the cities. His colleague, Alderman Melton, is listed among the opposition, and the two are not likely to agree on a nomination to fill the unexpired term. That event the Board itself will elect.

The most active campaigning is going on in Lee Ward, where former Alderman Marx Gunst has secured substantial assurances of support in his contest for a seat in the upper branch against Aldermen Ellett and Gilman, both of whom are standing for re-election.

APPOINTED ON STAFF
S. S. Zimmerman May Also Be Candidate for Congress.

Stephen S. Zimmerman, a former member of the House of Delegates from Wythe County, has been appointed a member of the official staff of Governor-elect Mann. Mr. Zimmerman will accept. He was a well known member of the Legislature of 1902, and at the time was prominently mentioned for the Lieutenant-Governorship. Mr. Zimmerman has served as the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Ninth District. It is believed that he can have the nomination at the hands of the Bristol convention on March 4 if he wants it. He is high in favor with the mineral interests of the Southwest. He himself owns a large deposit of iron ore on his magnificent farm in the tripple Creek valley.

Mr. Zimmerman came to Richmond last night to attend the inauguration ceremonies to-day.

ADOPTED STRONG RESOLUTIONS

Mrs. William Gemmill, president of the Richmond Federation of Mothers' Clubs, spoke for twenty minutes at the meeting yesterday, and the effect of her address was to secure the adoption of the following resolutions by a unanimous vote:

The February term of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals will open at noon to-day, with Circuit Judges Goff and Peckham, of Districts four and five, and Circuit Judges Bradley and Coffey in attendance. WOMEN PLEAD TO HAVE BILL KILLED

Federation of Mothers' Clubs Takes Strong Ground Against Throckmorton Measure.

OPPOSE MILK LAW CHANGE

Urge Public to Use Best Effort to Prevent Backward Step by Commonwealth.

C. W. THROCKMORTON.

Appealing to Virginia mothers to use every influence against the passage of any law that will take away from cities the right of conducting milk inspections, the executive board of the Richmond Federation of Mothers' Clubs yesterday expressed in resolutions its disapproval of the Throckmorton bill, which has been presented in the House of Delegates and which will, if passed, put the inspections in the hands of the State.

Similar action has been taken by the Graduate Nurses' Association, the Richmond Academy of Medicine and Surgery and various organizations here and elsewhere, all of which will be represented at the hearing of the bill before the House Committee on Agriculture and Mining on Thursday afternoon. As far as is known, each organization which has discussed the merits of the bill has unanimously put itself on record in opposition to it, and has urged those interested in the welfare of infants to aid in its defeat.

SWANSON SHOWS FURNACE TO MANN

Tells New Governor How It Works and How Meat Prices Have Jumped.

MOVING DAY AT CAPITOL

Stream of Callers Honor Governor on Last Full Day of His Term.

Moving day was observed yesterday at many of the State offices. Officials were packing their personal papers preparatory to giving up office to-day, and others were putting their houses in order to be ready for the incoming administration. At the office of Governor Swanson there was an almost continual stream of callers throughout the day, all sorts and conditions of people coming to shake his hand, and the Governor says it wasn't the closing day. He proposes to remain as Governor of Virginia until after the inauguration ceremonies to-day; when, after Governor-elect Mann has been formally inducted into office in the Hall of the House, the incoming and outgoing Governors will retire to the executive offices and the keys of the Governor's desk will be turned over without formality.

New Governor Arrives.
Governor-elect and Mrs. Mann arrived in Richmond yesterday morning and were guests at the Mansion last night. Early in the afternoon Governor Swanson excused himself from further callers, saying that he wished to show his successor how to make the furnace draw and talk over the high cost of living while their wives discussed the servant problem.

Private Secretary Ben P. Owen remained in charge. Governors might come and Governors go, but he goes on forever, he asserted, as he dumped into the waste basket a double handful of engraved invitations received by time for the Census of 1910, and approving the work of the Gettysburg Monument Commission.

Among the last official acts of Governor Swanson were the signing of the bill which makes possible the union of Richmond and Manchester in the Census of 1910, and approving the work of the Gettysburg Monument Commission.

Attorney-General William A. Anderson was also on the move yesterday. Except for the handling of the Virginia-West Virginia debt suit, for which he is to be specially retained by the State, his legal labors ended with the adjournment of the Supreme Court on Saturday. Yesterday he found on his knees in the middle of the floor tying into neat packages the papers in which the State has an interest, and preparing the office for his successor.

General Anderson Remains.
Adjutant-General Charles J. Anderson will not give up office until after the Legislature adjourns. By special request of Governor-elect Mann he has consented to retain the position until Senator Sale can take charge, so that it will not be necessary for him to vacate his seat.

Other officials caught the moving fever, and there was general house-cleaning at the Capitol late yesterday afternoon. Superintendent of Public Instruction Eggleston, who won in a walk, cleared his desks for a new assault on the Legislature for school funds. Commissioner of Agriculture Kolmer, who got back by the skin of his teeth, made ready for receiving the farmers who will gather to-day for the State Institute. Secretary of the Commonwealth R. O. James, who recently took charge, and hasn't had time to let papers accumulate. State Treasurer A. W. Harman, Jr., declared that his office strikes a balance every day, and that no quadrannual house-cleaning is necessary.

All will be present to-day to hear the inaugural address of the incoming Governor, to be delivered in the Hall of the House of Delegates.

Receipts for January.
Receipts for the custom house, port of Richmond, for January amounted to $18,628.52, or about $1,000 more than for the corresponding month last year. The imports were principally of burials, tobacco, liquors, linens, cottons, laces, embroideries, shoes, hats, furs, silks, woolens, shrubs, wines, gin and brandy, and were received from India, China, Japan, France, Germany, England and Spain. The collections yesterday were more than $1,000.

Commission Selects Design and Asks Legislature to Set Aside Necessary Fund.
Governor Swanson yesterday forwarded as his last official message to the Legislature a communication recommending the adoption of the report of the commission which has selected the design of a monument to the Virginia soldiers who fell in the battle of Gettysburg. The Governor states that the commission has visited the ground and had inspected a number of proposed sites before determining on the one recommended. The site selected is near Spangler's Woods, on the Confederate side, on the battlefield, almost exactly on the spot from which General Lee viewed the charge of Armistead's Brigade up Cemetery Ridge. The message and report of the commission was by each house referred to the Finance Committee, as it contemplates the appropriation of $50,000 for the erection of the monument.

The design of Mr. Stevens, one of a dozen or more now on exhibition in the basement of the Library Annex, proposes a large monument to the various branches of the service, the base to be surrounded by typical figures of infantrymen, artillerymen and cavalrymen, the whole to be surmounted with a handsome flag of General Robert E. Lee sitting erect on Traveller. The report of the commission in selecting the design was unanimous. The monument, who signed it there, so that it might contain the names of every member.

Willie Hill Laments at Being Arrested After Being Freed From Jail.
Willie Hill didn't have any work and, becoming despondent last night, he took a few aboard and met an officer down in Penitentiary Bottom. Fired with 5-cent shorts he gave vent to his disappointment, and quarreled with the world in a loud voice, protesting that though he had got out of jail on Saturday, that was no reason why people should doubt his honesty and refuse to give him work. When he met the policeman, his protestations became louder. He was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. He later all the way to the police station, and continued lamenting until Morpheus closed his eyes.

But it was different with a white man who was picked up on Seventh Street. He was maudlin and sentimental, and the bitter wind had little effect on his scantily-clad body. He was so full of fire within that the frigidity without had no effect. He refused to give his name. His hair was long, and he might have been Rip Van Winkle, though there are few places on Seventh Street where a man might sleep as long as Rip slept in the mountains, and the only balls that the unknown would see would be highballs. He had rolled highballs all he couldn't see, and there is a question as to whether he really knew his name. But he was locked up to think it over, and maybe he will remember to-day what name they used when he was christened.

EAST INDIAN PREACHER INDICTED FOR BURGLARY

Rev. S. W. Tucker, Who Picked Lock on His Way to Service, Skips After Friend Had Secured His Release on Bond.

The Henrico county grand jury met yesterday morning and indicted the Rev. S. W. Tucker, an East Indian, for breaking into the home of James Snead, on the Osborne Turnpike, some weeks ago while on his way to service. Tucker was also arrested in Richmond on a charge of theft, but the case was continued. In his missions through the county he added burglary as a side issue, which would give him enough money to carry on his good work, forgetting the Scriptural injunction to go forth with only his scrip.

Tucker was caught in the act of breaking into Mr. Snead's house, and was arrested. He managed to escape, however, and the indictment was returned against him yesterday, so that the might be brought back from the ends of the earth, if need be, not to preach, but to answer for his crime.

Tucker is a black. He wears a solemn countenance, a black clerical suit and a look of benignity that would disarm all suspicion. He had a church in Richmond, and he went into the wilds of Hanracker, where he thought that on the lonely highways, after preaching hours, he might garner in something against a rainy day. It is reported that Colonel Bill Skiffitt is looking for him and has declared that he will shoot him on sight. The colonel is noted for his marksmanship, having had much experience with rabbits.

But Tucker, it is suspected, is probably now preaching in a sunnier clime, perhaps upon the sandy reaches of the Queen of the Antilles, where bananas grow from every limb and the fruit is easier to pick than a Hanracker lock. Anyway, Tucker is gone, and his form will not likely be seen soon again in the environs of the Henrico hostility. He disappeared after being released on bond.

GIRL SUES MOTHER FOR FALSE ARREST

Hettie May Gilbert Wants $15,000 Damages as Result of Recent Trouble.

Suit was instituted yesterday in the Law and Equity Court by Hettie May Gilbert against her mother, Jennie B. Gilbert, for damages in the sum of $15,000 for false imprisonment. While no declaration has as yet been filed, the suit grows out of the arrest of the young woman on December 13 on a warrant charging her with being a lunatic, which was later dropped. The plaintiff is the daughter of the late E. Henry Gilbert, proprietor of Gilbert's Hotel, and a man widely known in city political circles, and for one term a member of the City Council.

About two years ago Mr. Gilbert died quite suddenly, and the hotel has since been operated by his widow and son. From the statement of the attorneys, Miss Gilbert explained that on December 13 last, and kept in the city jail for five hours, pending examination for lunacy. The charge was later withdrawn and the case dismissed without the appointment of a commission of lunacy. She refused to return to her mother's home, and has since lived at 102 East Main Street. She has employment as a stenographer.

Although the attorneys assert positively the fact of her arrest and imprisonment, they have not as yet been able to find the warrant said to have been sworn out before Magistrate McCarthy. The attorneys for Miss Gilbert are, Mr. E. B. Bond, of Powhatan, and Mr. X. Monteiro, of Gloucester; E. W. Hubbard, of Buckingham, and State Senator Sands Gayle, of Buckingham. The lawyers in the case hint vaguely at further sensations when the decision is filed and the case comes to trial.

Neither Miss Gilbert nor her mother will discuss the case, save to say that it will be contested to the utmost.

Jury Adjourned.
The Hustings Court jury was adjourned for the term yesterday morning. The docket was crowded with two civil cases of minor importance.

MODEST DEMAND BY POLICE BOARD

Increase in Annual Budget Largely for Extension of Signal System.

Practically no increase save an item for repairs to the First Police Station-house was asked for by the Board of Police Commissioners, members of which last night appeared before the Council Committee on Finance with a list of its needs to be incorporated in the annual budget. The recent request of the board for twenty-five additional policemen is not properly before the Finance Committee, having been sent back to the Council for reference to the Committee on Ordinances, Charter and Reform. A city ordinance fixes the number of employees of the Police Department at 125, and if the increase in force is granted it will be necessary to amend that ordinance and then provide funds for the pay of the new men for the balance of the fiscal year. The chief item of increase in the police budget was in the extension of the signal system. The appropriation last year was $2,000. City Electrician Thompson asked for $6,000 this year. The item will provide a new switchboard and ten new call boxes, and also provided for a gradual increase in the area in which wires are underground.

Chief Werner said that by the call system, he was in touch with some policemen through the signal office every two minutes, and that if the committee would give the word he could have every officer in the city at the City Hall in less than an hour, even including those on the most obscure beats in the annexed territory. The present switchboard, he explained, has 18,000 calls a month, while the fire alarm switchboard does not have more than 500 calls a year. Mr. Thompson explained that there are now 100 boxes, fifty east and fifty west from the City Hall. He said that in view of the necessity of policing the city in stormy weather it was of importance that the underground area be enlarged for thirty days.

J. C. Freeman, for the James River Improvement Committee, said there were a number of delegations which wished to appear before the committee in the afternoon, for the creation of wharves and other harbor improvements, and next Tuesday night was fixed for a special meeting to discuss river improvement.

Major E. W. Bowles presented the needs of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues, asking a maintenance fund of $500 each for the three companies, and $500 for the headquarters and band.

POLICE COURT CASES

Inge Is Fined $50 for Stabbing Her-mance, and Others Are Sent to Jail.
Sam Inge, who stabbed Frank A. Hermance in the arm, while the latter was at work in Noll's bakery Sunday night, was fined $50 in the Police Court yesterday morning on a charge of assault and battery. The charge of felony having been reduced to one of misdemeanor.

Harry Banks (colored), charged with stealing a chicken from E. E. Winston, was sentenced to thirty days in jail. The case against John Kilrain (white), charged with stealing a lot of towels and linen from Nellie Gray, was continued to February 4.

The case against Ananias Hicks and James Shuler, charged with breaking into a Chesapeake and Ohio Railway car and stealing therefrom four cases of whiskey, was continued to February 4. Lawrence, alias J. Morton, charged with stealing a suit of clothes from George W. Waddill, was sent to jail for thirty days.

Verdict for Defendant.
In the suit of Harry Cohen against Lewis Aaronson for damages paid $5,000, tried in the Law and Equity Court yesterday, the jury found a verdict for the defendant. The ground of the suit was a personal attack on the suit of R. B. Burke & Company against Porter Alston, the verdict of which was that the plaintiff was entitled to certain goods to the value of $25.00.

COLONEL B. L. FARINOLLO, of West Point, Va., announces that he will stand for election to the vacancy recently created in the House of Delegates by the death of his lamented friend, Hon. T. J. Edwards.
